BURNED TO ASHES.

The Pittsburg Exposition Building Wiped Out.

One of the Most Dangerous Fires in Memory — Millions of Dollars Worth of Property and Many Valuable Relics Swept Away in Twenty Minutes—The Country for Miles Around Lighted Up.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 3.—About 3 in the morning the Exposition building caught fire, and in twenty minutes the entire structure, together with machinery and floral halls, were in ashes. The fire was discovered first in the engine-room, in the machinery department, and, in order not to frighten the citizens, a still alarm was sent in, and in this way the flames got beyond control, so that before the fire department reached the place the buildings were almost burned to the ground. When it became known that it was the Exposition building, although it was so late, an immense crowd was soon on its way to the scene of the great conflagration. The reflection from the fire lit up the country for miles around, and in the furthest end of the city a paper could be read as easily as in daylight. The loss is fully $2,500,000. The exhibits consisted of all varieties of products and industries, including many valuable relics, among which was "Arabian," the old locomotive of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, the first built in this country.

The fire extended down to the Allegheny river, and a large portion of the Pittsburgh & Western railroad's trestling was burned. A number of cars on the trestling, which extended between the river and the exposition buildings, were entirely consumed.

It is thought that at least 50,000 people were in the vicinity and on the hills and high points of land in the neighborhood, from whence they could command a view. At the lower end of the building is the Union bridge, which has just caught iron on the railroad trestling before mentioned. If this should be destroyed the loss will be very heavy. Within the past two weeks the stables were entirely consumed. It is supposed that the present fire originated from a lighted cigar-stump, thrown on the floor by some careless visitor, and not perceived by any one of the watchmen specially appointed for the purpose of guarding against anything of the kind. The flames started in the northeast corner of Power hall, and before any of the watchmen noticed it the tinder-like structure, which was a perfect temptation for anything of the kind, was a mass of flame. There were about fifteen watchmen in the building, and it is not now known whether any have perished in the flames.

There never was a more complete destruction by fire than that of the exposition. The scene is one of the greatest confusion. Moving down along South avenue one can see heaps of broken iron, the remains of the great exhibit of stoves. Back of them two safes, turned upside down and guillotined of paint, rear high above their surroundings. A little further down, pulled partly out of the wreck, is the exposition sale. It is bulged with the heat and no one knows whether it has preserved its valuable contents. Gas escaping from a broken pipe furnishes the only flame to be seen. Charred piles stick up everywhere. Lines of twisted shafting and iron pipe cross and cross again but all else in the main building has gone down to a common level. The adventurous spirits who dare the dangers of hot embers and pools of water can find bits of iron—this a part of an exhibit, this from a car, this from one of the fine carriages—that stood on the north aisle, this from one of the many pianos, but not one thing can they discern that is of any value except for old junk. As Machinery Hall is approached the wreck looks more disastrous. The big engine sticks high up in air, greatest of all that is left. It was mounted on a stone foundation and stands there complete, the fly-wheel in place, the nickel plating on the cylinder still bright, but its glory has departed. The boilers have settled down on the piles that supported them. The huge smokestacks are twisted and bent, and have fallen toward the west. Down among the piles that supported Machinery Hall are the remains of some of the best machinery ever put up in Pittsburgh. The old "Arabian," the Baltimore & Ohio engine that stood the perils of the rail for generations to perish in a fire, is a pitiful looking object, and almost a complete wreck.

Very early the crowd began to swell. Men, women, and children came flocking down, and all the efforts of the police force could not keep them back. The craze for relics had broken out, and the people risked anything for the sake of a memento. The value of the exhibits of art, relics, and pictures was $375,000, and the total loss is about $375,000. The insurance is about $250,000. The report that the Pittsburg & Western railroad trestle and the Union bridge were burned is false, as they were not even scorched. The Exposition safe, which contained $8,000 and Levy's famous cornet, is all right, and Levy is wild with joy.

Had a conflagration occurred early at night, considering the rapidity with which the flames spread, the loss of life would have been appalling, as it would have been almost impossible for even a part of the crowd to escape. The buildings which were destroyed were erected in 1875. The main building was 600 feet long and 150 wide. The machinery hall was 400 feet long and 150 wide. The other buildings were small.

Pushed From a Bridge.

NEWARK, Oct. 3.—Michael Collins, bridge tender at Passaic river bridge of the Morris & Essex road, was accidentally pushed from the bridge and died in the hospital an hour later. James McDonald, a of East Newark, a passenger on the 5 o'clock train from New York, was carried through to Newark. He started to walk across the bridge in opposition to the rules and was driven back by Collins. McDonald again attempted to cross, and passed Collins on another track, but was stopped by Engineer Schemmerhorn, who drove him back. Meantime Collins followed him up and was jostled by McDonald so that he fell through the bridge, a distance of twenty feet, upon a stone pier. McDonald was arrested.

INDIAN TROUBLES.

A Difficulty on the Turtle Mountain Reservation.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 3.—A telegram has been received at department headquarters from Major J. S. Conrad, 17th Infantry, commanding at Fort Totten, D. T., stating that committee of settlers from the eastern slope of the Turtle Mountains had arrived at the Fort and made complaint that the Indians (probably Little Shell's band) threaten to kill the stock of all the settlers unless they leave the country at once; that about fifteen lodges of Indians from Wood Mountains, Canada, are encamped in the neighborhood of the settlement, and the Indians claim that the settlers, who are chiefly from the Canada side, are intruding on their reservation. Major Conrad in his dispatch also states that the maps at Fort Totten show the claim of the Indians to be justified, but as the settlers demand military protection he asks for instructions. Orders were at once issued for a careful investigation of the matter, and if it shall appear that the settlers are actually intruding on the reservation they will be removed. Otherwise their demand for military protection shall be complied with.

A telegram just received from Devil's Lake says the special government timber agent, who is just in from Turtle Mountain, reports that the Indian trouble is principally caused by Little Bull, Little Shell's chief brave. Little Shell is married to two Cree squaws, and has brought fifteen lodges of Crees from the Woody Mountains to his reservation, and is trying to have the government place them on his reservation. He has departed to get more of the Crees. Col. Conrad, at Fort Totten, is waiting orders from headquarters. McCullom, Custom House officer at St. John's, is endeavoring to prevent trouble. The intention is to prosecute the Government survey, but fears are entertained that it will be forcibly interrupted. An official telegram has just been received at Fort Totten authorizing Cortez Tressenden, Surveyor General of Dakota, to adjust the difficulties if possible.

THE ATKINSON CRIME.

The Detective Theory as to Potts' Proceedings.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 3.—The detective who arrested old man Potts for the murder of Ada Atkinson, gives the following as his theory of the crime. The prisoner went there to commit a robbery; he tried to get the girl to tell him where the money was hidden; she refused; he tortured her by cutting her with his knife on the back and hips. Just then Tom Ford came to the fence and called; the girl tried to answer; he chose her with the handkerchief that was about her neck, and which, when the boy was found, was twisted so tight that it had to be cut off. He cut her throat to destroy the only witness of the crime. The guilty wretch then fled, and the detective claims to have tracked his footprints out of the back door and across the fields. It is difficult to make people believe that Potts is guilty of the horrible crime. The man who first arrested him on the night of the murder said to a reporter that old Potts was innocent, every indication pointing that way.

RUNAWAY TRAIN.

Dashing Down a Grade at Lightning Speed.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 3.—A freight train on the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia Railroad was going down a steep grade a few hundred yards west of Carter's Station, the engine became unmanageable and rushed down the grade with lightning rapidity. The whistle for down brakes was blown incessantly, but to no avail, and the engine dashed into the rear of the second section. When men at the station heard the thunder of the runaway train they realized the situation in an instant and turned the switch from the main line, which threw the train on the side track into the freight train. The caboose and three cars were entirely demolished and ten cars badly damaged. The caboose took fire while lying on top of the engine and was destroyed. Engineer Ashmore in jumping from the engine was badly injured about the head. The fireman, in jumping, rolled down an embankment fully twenty-five feet, but was not seriously injured. The runaway engine was buried under the debris of burning cars and was almost a total ruin.

THAT CHURCH FIGHT.

The War at Wilkesbarre Still in Full Blast.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 3.—The excitement in Nanticoke over the church fight continues unabated. Father Gremlwise has caused nine members of his flock to be arrested for assault and rioting. The congregation now threatens to arrest Gremlwise for misappropriating the money. The reverend father totally denies the charges brought against him by the congregation, however, and asserts that the trouble was started and fomented by a number of Polish liquor-dealers in revenge for his attempt to inaugurate a whisky crusade. The members of the congregation held a mass-meeting and resolved not to permit Gremlwise to enter the church or officiate at any service. The reverend father now talks of establishing another church and holding services, pending the return of Bishop O'Hara.

A DRUMMER IN TROUBLE.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 3.—W. L. Harkey, a handsome young fellow, a Baltimore drummer, was arrested here, charged with criminally assaulting a young negro girl, a maid in the hotel in which he was a guest. He choked her in order to accomplish his purpose. This is her story. Others say it is a blackmailing scheme.

The Loss by Reduction in Postage.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 3.—It is stated at the Postoffice Department that the reduction of letter postage rates from three to two cents for each half ounce or fraction will involve a deficiency of about $3,000,000 from October 1, 1883, until the end of the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1884.

MORMON METHODS.

The Crooked Political Ways of the Salt Lake Saints.

That Chicago Interview With the Mormon Mayor, Jennings—Serious Trouble Between Saints and Gentiles—How the Laws are Evaded and Ineligible Persons Put Into Office.

INDIAN TROUBLES.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Oct. 3.—The interview with Mayor Jennings, telegraphed from Chicago, is a great surprise here, and caused much comment. The general opinion is that the Mayor didn't quite say the things the reporter credited him with, but he said what gave the reporter to understand them as said, for there is much juggling of words among the faithful always. The statements made were for the outside public, to be denied at home, but to stand abroad. His explanation of how the Mormons let out the polygamous officeholders, show what might have been done, but was not, so that the majority of the territorial county officers and local officers are polygamists. Why, Jennings himself is Mayor of this city, though his name was specially ordered stricken off the voting list because of polygamy. It thus happens large numbers of persons are holding office in Utah who could not vote at any election, and Jennings is one of them. Jennings' statement about a proffer of some of the offices to Gentiles and their refusal to accept unless they could have all is a naked fabrication. Nothing of the sort was ever heard of here, and so this programme of keeping out the Gentiles from office for the future is simply announcing that the old policy would be continued, as, indeed, nobody ever expected anything better as long as the Mormons have control of it. Their desire as to this matter is shown by the fact that they have counted out and deprived of their positions the very few Gentiles who were ever elected to office in Utah, and given the office invariably to their Mormon brother who was beaten at the polls. With respect to the social evil, the Mayor said prostitution was increasing so rapidly here that he might have to move all the lewd women out of the city limits. They could never have come in for the Mormons renting houses to them at high figures. He says, moreover, that there was fears of a burning of the town and lynching of the Tribune editors on the night of the mob here recently. The former is a mistake. No body feared a burning of the town, while if there was any reason to fear a lynching of these editors it was not from any wild mob, but from Mr. Jennings' police, whom he had been unable to restrain from the brutal beating of the lynched negro, and virtually leading the mob to its final extreme, and whom he has since shielded and defended in a way that was astonishing to many persons who previously thought well of the Mayor.

THE PENSON LIST.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 3.—Commissioner of Pensions Dudley will ask Congress for an appropriation of $40,000,000 for the payment of pensions during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1885. Of the $100,000,000

MADAM CHRISTINE NILSSON has arrived at New York.

ACCORDING to the statistician of the London Times, the United States is $10,000,000 richer than the United Kingdom.

THE assessment of the railroads in this State has been largely reduced by the Commissioner. It is about $3,000,000 less than it was last year.

JUDGE HINES, of the Court of Appeals, has affirmed the sentence of William Shackleford, who was sent to the penitentiary for life from Harlan county for killing John G. Howard.

THE Louisville Commercial says: All the tobacco factories in the city are running night and day in order to meet the great demand for manufactured tobacco, occasioned by the increase in the price of leaf tobacco and the fear that manufactured tobacco will jump to an extraordinary figure. Within the past two days the price of plug tobacco has increased two cents on the pound.

PROF. PICKETT, Superintendent of Public Instruction, has, through his attorney, made a formal demand on General Hewitt for the school's portion of money (twenty-two cents on each $100 taxes) collected from all railroads and corporations, which heretofore has been turned into the general expenditure fund. It seems it is a doubtful question, and will probably be carried into the courts.

THE debt statement shows decrease in the public debt during September of $14,707,229. The decrease since June 30 is $29,739,671. Cash in the Treasury, $355,450,670; gold certificates, $85,495,250; silver certificates, $94,490,241; certificates of deposit, $11,945,000; refunding certificates, $332,750; legal tenders, $346,681,016; fractional currency, $6,992,906; cash available October 1st, $158,546,006.

A DESPATCH from Lexington to the Courier-Journal says: This afternoon Craft's mother, brother and sister, left here on their return from Frankfort, whether they had gone to plead with the Governor for a reprieve till after the trial of Neal. They would say nothing of the interview with the Governor, nor of the evidence laid before him. But it is understood from a conversation with Clifton Craft, the brother, that it includes the claim that some rich party suspected of the crime has been paying lavishly to secure the conviction of the prisoners; that a girl who knows something of the case, and who mysteriously disappeared from Ashland at the time of Craft's trial, will be produced to prove that she was paid to leave and that a negro witness present at Ellis' lynching will swear he declared at the last the innocence of Neal.

Foreign Gossip.

In Bishopgate, London, is a cellar where no customer can be served with two successive drinks at one sitting. If he wants a second glass he must go through the form of leaving the place and returning. This rule has been enforced for fifty years.

The special trains employed by Her Majesty Victoria during the past nineteen years have cost $45,000. The British public imagined that she paid for these herself, but is shocked to learn that the Government has footed the bill.

In a London court a youth was sentenced to pay a fine of twenty shillings or to labor for ten days for kissing a young woman against her will. The plaintiff's satisfaction over her victory was turned to bitterness when the youth volunteered an apology, saying: "Of course I was under the influence of liquor, or I should not have dreamed of kissing her."

Arthur Orton, the notorious Tichborne claimant, drags out a rather monotonous existence in Portsea convict prison. He is perfectly well, and in good flesh and spirits. Recently, in conversation with prisoners, he declared he would rather remain the balance of his days in prison than be liberated as Arthur Orton. He has earned a first-class certificate by exemplary conduct, and after November he will be entitled to have friends visit him every two months. At present he is employed in the carpenter shop of the prison.

The accumulation of great wealth by no means necessarily implies the capacity to enjoy it—often, indeed, quite the contrary. A story is told of Lord Cavendish, who in 1810 was the largest stockholder in London, and who hated the very name of money. Upon one occasion his bankers, finding that his account amounted to a deposit of £80,000, called upon him and asked what he wished to do with it. "Anything you choose," was the reply, "but don't bother me about it. I won't be plagued. If it's any trouble I'll take it out of your hands." This is a trait entirely distinct from avarice or miserliness.

ABERDEEN ITEMS.

Mrs. Jones' young lady friends left last Friday for Vaunceburg.

Mr. Parker Bradford, of "Mason Heights," Kt., was in our town this week.

Mr. Gwin Dennis, a handsome Chicagoan, is visiting his mother, of this town.

Some gentlemen have such an innocent way of telling a falsehood that it is hard to detect the truth.

We were greatly misinformed regarding Rev. W. H. Whitney as being a single gentleman. Reporters are sometimes liable to be misinformed:

No one can surpass Squire Beasley playing on the fife. The rippling notes sail out on the morning breeze with the merry cadence of the blithesome lark.

Mr. L. C. Carr purchased a handsome horse last week—a sorrel, with a full cream-colored mane and sweeping tail. It's a perfect jewel of horse in beauty and style—a nonsuch.

Squire Beasley had a wed'ing couple Tuesday morning which attracted quite a crowd of spectators. The bride was lovely and her commanding form was enveloped in an ulcer which vied with any jersey.

Several gentlemen went out hunting, as they were told the woods were full of game. On their return Mr. —— said to his wife "you thought I couldn't shoot" as he held up a rabbit, "ah, you didn't expect me to bring this home." "Yes I did," she replied, with a merry twinkle in her eye, "why, you precious goose, Miss C—— saw you buy it round at the corner grocery."

The greatest wedding of the week was Saturday afternoon. The Squires assumed more than his usual dignity on this occasion, as the bridal attire, white silk with brocaded satin front, an illusion veil and orange blossoms crowned her queenly head. On their return the bride clung with all wifely devotion to her Lord and Master. Of course they were the observed of observers.

One evening recently some ladies and gentlemen were discussing the lofty subject of fashions, when one gentleman made the remark, "We couldn't understand why ladies when half clothed are said to be in full dress." "Well," replied the young lady, "It is just as consistent, as when gentlemen are in what they call full dress, as it is the same style as the waiter who attends him."

More Fine Tobacco.

HELENA, KY., Oct. 31, 1883.

Ed. Bulletin: Noticing in the DAILY BULLETIN a statement that Lewis T. King, of Fleming county, had the finest crop of tobacco in that neighborhood, I beg leave to take exception thereto. I am willing to show samples with him or with any other grower in the county, as I claim that my crop lays over them all. J. C. A. KING.

Card.

Expecting to leave to-day for Portsmouth, I desire to say that during my stay in Maysville, I have been courteously received and politely treated. I regret to leave the beautiful and romantic city, and in doing so I bid a kind farewell to all.

MADAM FRANCES HAIL, Astrologist.

Fashion Notes.

The old fashioned Garibaldi waist is being revived.

Puffed bindings of velvet or satin upon the edges of Langtry turbans and the brims of bonnets and large round hats will be in great use this autumn.

The newest tennis hats are made of gray satin open work straw, faced with cardinal, and trimmed with peacock feather ends and sea-gull's wing.

Dark red waistcoats and revers, closely covered with gold braid, are considered very stylish. A silver gray dress embroidered in silver, with white watered silk vest, likewise embroidered, is a unique and delicate looking dress for special occasions, but one that soon becomes old.

Monograms are now embroidered in very heavy work, but are small in size. They are executed in comparatively plain style, without any arabesque or floral device surrounding them. Handkerchiefs in shot muslin are carried with dresses of the same material, and are worked with one of the brightest colors of the muslin. The effect, however, is not good, and colored and figured handkerchiefs, like colored silk underwear, are merely a passing eccentricity of late.

The cream spotted muslins, printed with sprays of scarlet or pink geranium blossoms or bunches of small china roses, are much worn, and are usually cut la Watteau. They are both quaint and pretty looking, and, if properly made, look as if they had just been taken out from between the lavender and pot-pourri of your grandmother's chest.

When not in Watteau style these dresses are made short waisted, with loose bodices, and a wide bebe sash tied around the waist.

J. D. Thompson—House for rent.
Madam Hall—Card.
Robert McWade—Entertainment.

For fear you have not noticed it,
Of this we wish to speak;
By Dr. Martin we are told
That this is Baby Week.
And that you may remember it,
You'll please to note it down,
That many "little tinkers" have
This week dropped into town.

"Just room for four—and four of us—thank heaven there's no more of us."

CAPT. HARVEY REDDEN and Mr. Moss Taylor have gone to St. Louis to buy a new bell for the steamer Hande No 2.

The Lexington papers say that Craft is still in fine spirits, and is confident that something will turn up to prevent his execution.

Mr. J. BLAKEBOUGH, who is one of Maysville's most liberal and enterprising business men, is putting an iron front in his Second street store.

Mr. H. H. Cox's suburban residence is offered for sale at a low price and on reasonable terms. It is a comfortable home and one of the most desirable in this neighborhood.

DURING the cyclone at Lexington a fine trotting mare, a full sister of Mike, who won the free-for-all race at the Maysville fair, was killed by a barn blowing down.

Mrs. ALLENDER, living on Front street, Maysville, Ky., gave birth to four children, three girls and one boy October 1st. She is a daughter of Mr. Daniel Daugherty, the man about town. The children are all living and doing well.—Carlisle Mercury.

Mrs. Allender has handsome twin children and that is all.

The latest reports indicate three feet of water in the Ohio at Pittsburg, with the river rising. Heavy rains fell on the 2nd inst., at Portsmouth, Ironton, Huntington, Charleston, Point Pleasant and Pittsburg.

The following marriage licenses have been issued in Brown county, Ohio, since our last report:

Edwin T. Laycock and Mary P. Pickrell, E. F. Donley and S. E. Brooks, Charles T. Elschlager and Sarah T. Wardlow, William Cooney and Mary Bark, John McNeells and Ella McCaffrey.

THERE are several lamp-posts in town that are not absolutely necessary to properly light the streets. If nothing else can be done let one of them be removed and placed on Second street extension. It is to the discredit of the city that this much-used thoroughfare has been left so long in darkness.

MAYSVILLE was visited by a destructive storm on Tuesday about noon, which levelled the new Catholic Church to the ground, completely wrecking it. Several booths at the fair grounds of the colored association were blown down, together with a number of trees and a considerable quantity of fencing in the neighborhood of the town.

MR. M. F. MARSH, another of our leading real estate agents, we are gratified to notice, has accepted the BULLETIN'S suggestion, and is offering to sell real estate on terms that the humblest person in the city can buy. He has some very desirable lots in Chester that he proposes to sell for $100 each, and will arrange with the buyer that payments may be made in weekly installments of one dollar. By taking advantage of these favorable terms any citizen who desires to do so may obtain a home of his own. The Building Association affords the means to do so and is ready at all times to aid any of its honest and industrious members who show a disposition to help themselves.

A TERRIBLE murder and suicide occurred last Saturday night in the vicinity of Berlin, Bracken county. Mr. William Myers had occasion to put several young men out of his house, where a party was being held, and before he left the door, some one gave him a severe slash across the thigh with a knife, and almost immediately a shot was fired, the ball striking him near the heart, when he fell dead in the doorway. Warrants were issued for the arrest of Ras Cummins, Joe Weaver, Peter Snodgrass and Young Smith, who were standing in the yard before the door at the time. All were arrested but Weaver, who was found the next morning about half way between his home and Myers' house, suspended by a plow line from a limb of a tree, and dead. Either he had committed suicide, through remorse, which is believed to be the fact, or he had given his companions cause to fear that he would make damaging disclosures, and they added another murder to the previous one for the sake of their own safety. The latter hypothesis is not accepted in the neighborhood.

A Romantic Story.

A distinguished German savant, in 1715, made what he considered a most wonderful discovery. He became convinced that electricity was the agent of the Almighty between the mortal and immortal, and believed, that by transmitting its current to the human brain man's knowledge would increase, and that he would clearly understand many things which are now unfathomable, among the rest the mystery of dreams. Venturing one night to his laboratory to make the test, without an assistant to cut off the death current, in the cause of science, he gave up his life.

His son, Franz Herchelle, imbued with the spirit of his father, was a firm believer in scientific theories, and attributing his death to over-stepping the proper bounds of degrees, with the fired brain and a soul of a young enthusiast determines to complete his father's discovery. He takes his sister into his confidence, and at midnight in the gloomy old laboratory, surrounded by retorts and scientific instruments, he makes the fearful test upon which hinges many incidents of a long life, which are illustrated with pathetic sentiment, and all subservient to the silver thread of an exquisite love theme, which is twisted and plaited in a true lover's knot.

Monday evening, October 8th, Robert McWade, the eminent comedian, will present the play embodying the above story, at the Opera House in this city, and the public may rest assured of witnessing a meritorious performance, worthy of their patronage. Seats can now be had at Harry Taylor's news store.

Woods vs. Green.

A few weeks ago Clara J. Woods, a young lady who resides in the neighboring village of Chester, brought suit in the Mason Circuit Court against David M. Green, a citizen of the same locality. The fair plaintiff alleged in her petition that the defendant, sometime last February, entered into a promise of marriage with her. The time fixed and agreed upon by the two for the marriage to take place was a certain day in last July. When the time came round, however, the defendant failed to keep his promise. By his neglect, failure and refusal to keep his promise, the plaintiff claimed that she had been damaged in the sum of $5,000 and asked judgment for that amount. At the time suit was brought an attachment was granted to plaintiff and levied upon the defendant's crop of tobacco. Sometime last week the defendant concluded that it would be better for him to keep his promise so the two quietly wended their way across the river to Esquire Massie Bensley's and were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony. The suit in the court has, of course, been discontinued. This is the second suit of the kind that has been brought in this county for a long time, the other one being the case of Adam vs. Schweickart, in which the fair plaintiff got judgment for $1,500 damages. Messrs. Sallee & Sallee were plaintiff's attorneys in both cases.

Citizens' Relief Meeting.

Pursuant to adjournment, a meeting of the citizens was held at the Court-house last night to hear the reports of the ward committees, Robert A. Cochran in the chair. Reports of the several committees were read, showing amounts subscribed and collected, the whole amount aggregating in the neighborhood of $800.

The ward committees reported having appointed Mr. J. H. Dodson and Leslie Worthington to solicit subscriptions from the people of the county. The committees were continued.

On motion, Messrs. W. B. Mathews, H. C. Barkley, J. R. Rudy and Wm. Wormald were appointed an executive committee to carry out the wishes of the meeting regarding the building of the houses, and amount to be expended thereon.

On motion, Messrs. John Heiser, Captain Ed. Fitzgerald, were added to the Third Ward committee, to assist in soliciting further subscriptions.

No further business being before the meeting it adjourned.

WAR THREATENED.

The Franco-Spanish Muddle Growing Thicker.

Germany Said to Have Sent France a Sharp Diplomatic Note—Severe Comments of the London Times—The French Ministry and President Grey Blamed for the Whole Business.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—The odium of the incoming reception of King Alfonso last Saturday now rests chiefly upon President Grey. Not only are the populace unsparing in their denunciation of his apology to the King of Spain, but the German Embassy at Paris directly charge and have reported to their Government their belief that that the outrage was directed against Germany alone and not against King Alfonso. Marquis Laiglesia, the Spanish Minister, has left Paris for Berlin to consult with the Emperor.

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—It is reported that a diplomatic note has been sent by Germany to France relative to the insults offered by the Parisian populace to the King of Spain. The note calls the attention of the French Government to the fact that the weight of opposition was directed against a Ultran, and that Germany, not Spain, is really aggrieved.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—A Times' editorial says: "A government which can not secure a courteous reception for a National guest in its own Capitol, can hardly be acquitted of weakness and incapacity, even if it escape suspicion on the score of sincerity and good will. During the brief tenure of office of M. Challemeau Latour, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, he has irritated Germany and nullified the good will of England, and quarreled with China. The complete isolation to which he has reduced France has had a natural result in the outbreak against King Alfonso."

NO MORE CHROMOS.

The Philadelphia Brewers Organize a Strike.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—The ale and porter brewers in this city on Saturday formed a pool arrangement for the purpose of abolishing the custom of making presents to their patrons to retain their trade. This determination is received with a great deal of dissatisfaction by the retailers, who for years have been reaping great benefits from the intense rivalries existing between brewers here. Saloons have been painted, frescoed and decorated in the best manner, costly glass signs furnished, refrigerators put in, flagging put down in front of saloons, bar-fixtures given away, necessary glass-ware supplied, pumps and other expensive appurtenances contributed by competing brewers anxious to retain an old or gain a new customer. This policy, however, has never been recognized as suicidal, and by the arrangement mentioned it has been put a stop to.

IS JUH DEAD?

Indians Say That He Fell Off His Horse and Was Killed.

CARALMEXICO, Oct. 3.—Indians coming into Casas Grandes say that Juh was killed by falling off his horse while intoxicated. They say he fell over a rock precipice, the road being above. The people do not believe the report. It is considered some sharp maneuver.

Mr. Rafferty's Appearance in the Flesh.

LOCKPORT, Ill., Oct. 3.—The cultured circles of this section are agitated over the sudden postponement of the wedding of the widow Rafferty to middle-aged sailor who recently came swoing. The trouble is that Mr. J. L. Rafferty, whose supposed body was identified in St. Louis and laid away in the family lot in the church-yard here a year ago, has appeared and asserted his authority over the intended bride. He had been out West for two years and is hale and hearty, but in rather bad temper.

The L. & N. Directory.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 3.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the L. & N. R. R. the following directory was elected for the ensuing year: C. C. Baldwin, F. D. Carley, E. H. Green, J. E. Green, W. C. Hall, Jay Gould, Thos. F. Regan, Russell Sage, George A. Washington, W. F. Whitehouse, W. S. Williams and James T. Woodward. Confessing Her Crime to Her Father.

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 3.—During the trial of Mary Sergeant, accused of murdering her infant, the father of the unfortunate woman admitted that his daughter confessed to him that she was the cause of the baby's death. Several physicians expressed the opinion that she was suffering from a peculiar form of hereditary insanity which made her totally irresponsible for her acts.

Bad Carolina Boys.

WINSTON, N. C., Oct. 3.—Three boys, Joseph Tise, James Wier and John Goins, were out hunting near here Tuesday. The quarreled, and Goins ran away. Tise caught and held him, while Wier took aim at him with his gun and fired. The discharge burned Goins badly on the arm. Luckily only about a dozen shot took effect. The boys Tise and Wier were arrested. Wier swore he did not know the gun was loaded.

Money for O'Donnell's Defense.

Chicago Official Arrested.

SHOCKING BRUTALITY.

Horrible Torture of an Aged and Inoffensive Indian.

LITTLE BOMB, Oct. 3.—A dispatch from the Indian Territory reports a terrible tragedy at the home of Isoma, an Indian, eighty years old. Sunday night four unknown persons demanded admittance, which the Indian refused, whereupon they fired into the hut and beat down the door. As they entered the Indian jumped out of the window. He was seized, and refusing to tell where he kept his money, was subjected to inhuman torture. Remaining obdurate, the robbers shot him seven times and beat him insensible. They then plundered the hut, carrying away no less than $5,000. Isoma will die. There is no clue to the robbers.

A Curious Suit Against a Broker.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—James E. Miller, of Searsdale, Westchester counter has brought an action to recover $122,142 from Edward J. Dunning, a Wall street broker. Plaintiff wanted money and defendant took his notes to the amount of $80,000 to sell for him. As plaintiff's credit was good, the defendant, as is alleged, used them for his own benefit. Upon being threatened with arrest defendant paid plaintiff $25,000 and promised to make the balance good. Plaintiff claims he was damaged to the amount of $50,000, and sues for that sum and $2,000 difference between the amount of the notes and $25,000 received.

Shot in a Texas Church.

GALVESTON, Oct. 3.—In a meeting house at Comanche, Sunday, after preaching was over and the congregation had gone to the creek to witness the ordinance of baptism, Robert Butcher and his brother William, both of whom had remained in the building, became involved in a quarrel with Mr. Harris. Robert Butcher received the contents of a shotgun carried by Harris, and expired within a moment. William Butcher and Harris then engaged in a scuffle for the gun, and during the struggle Harris was wounded on the head so badly that he may die. William Butcher was arrested.

Sergeant Bates' New Trump.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Sergeant Bates, the flag-carrier, announces his intention to start from this city next Monday, accompanied by his young son, who is also to carry a flag, the twain to journey to Atlanta, Ga., and from thence to Charleston, S. C. The father announces his intention to make speeches on the way.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 3.—There are now in jail here three men under sentence of death. They are Willis Davis, colored, rape, to be hanged October 29; Felix Wilson, colored, for the murder of Moses Rendleman, and Thomas Shield, white, for the murder of Joseph G. Sutton. The last two have appealed to the Supreme Court.

Winter Weather at St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 3.—At St. Paul the thermometer registered below 39° during most of the day, and poor people actually suffered from cold.

The report of a treaty having been signed between Germany and Spain is denied on Spanish authority.

AYER'S Hair Vigor

restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to a natural, rich brown color, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always, cured.

It checks falling of the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the Vioon is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor dye, renders the hair soft, glossy, and stiffer in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable, and lasting perfume.

MR. C. P. BRUCHMAN writes from Kirby, O., July 3, 1882: "Last fall my hair commenced falling out, and in a short time I became nearly bald. I used part of a bottle of AYER'S HAIR VIOON, which stopped the falling of the hair, and started a new growth. I have now a full head of hair growing vigorously, and am convinced that but for the use of your preparation I should have been entirely bald."

MR. BOYNTON, proprietor of the Mercury, Ohio, says: "AYER'S HAIR VIOON is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. It promotes the growth of new hair, and makes it glossy and soft. The Vioon is also a sure cure for dandruff. Not withal my knowledge has the preparation ever failed to give entire satisfaction."

MR. ANGUS FAIRBAIRN, leader of the celebrated Fairbairn Family of Scottish Vocalists, writes from Boston, Mass., Feb. 6, 1880: "Ever since my hair began to turn gray, I have used AYER'S HAIR VIOON. It has greatly improved my hair, and so have been able to maintain an appearance of youthfulness—a matter of considerable consequence to musicians, actors, and in fact every one who lives in the eyes of the public."

Mrs. O. A. PRESCOTT, writing from Elm St., Charlestown, Mass., April 14, 1882, says: "Two years ago about two-thirds of my hair was off. It thinned very rapidly, and I was fast growing bald. On using AYER'S HAIR VIOON the falling stopped, and new hair grew out, and in about a month my head was completely covered with short hair. It has continued to grow, and is now as good as before it fell. I regularly used but one bottle of the Vioon, but now use it occasionally as a dressing."

We have hundreds of similar testimonials to the efficacy of AYER'S HAIR VIOON. It needs but a trial to convince the most skeptical of its value.
